THis Indenture made, Witnesseth that Son of hath put himselfe Apprentice, to of the Universitie of Oxon: to learne his Art, and him after the manner of an Apprentice to serve from the unto the full end and Terme of yeares from thence next following fully to be compleat and ended, during which said Terme the said Apprentice, his said Master faithfully shall Serve, his Secrets keep, his Lawfull Commandements every where Do. He shall do no Dammage to his said Master, nor see to be done of others, but that he to his power shall let, or forthwith admonish his said Master thereof: He shall not waste the Goods of his said Master, nor lend them unlawfully to any. He shall not commit Fornication, nor contract Matrimony within the said Terme. He shall not play at Cards, Dice, Tables, or any other unlawfull Games, whereby his said Master may have any losse, with his Own goods or others during the said Terme, He shall not haunt Taverns, nor absent himselfe from his said Masters service Day or Night unlawfully, but in all things as a faithfull Apprentice he shall behave himselfe towards his said Master and all his during the said Terme. AND the said Master his said Apprentice in the same Art which he useth by the best means he can, shall Teach and Instruct, with due correction, finding to his said Apprentice, Meat, Drinke, Apparell, Lodging, and all other necessaries during the said Terme, and in the end of the said Terme, shall give unto his said Apprentice double Apparell fitting for such an Apprentice.

AND for the true performance of all and singular the said Covenants and Agreements either of the said parties Bindeth himselfe to the other by these presents. In witnesse whereof the parties aforesaid to these Indentures interchangably have set their Hands and Seales. Dated the day of in the yeare of the Raigne of our Soveraigne Lord CHARLES the Second, King of England &c. Ann Dom: 166

1660—